SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Reflections . . .

Reflections of the 1960-1961 school year bring cherished memories of the many days' activities which filled each student's life. The organizations, sports, special events of the year, classrooms, and homework contributed to our wonderful times. This was the year of the political campaign, the advancement of fantastic space achievements, and the year when we reached a realization that we do not live in a divided world and that we must all strive for peace.

In the extracurricular realm, ribbons, trophies, and scholarships were won by many of our students. The superintendents, principals, faculty, and patrons of our community have contributed greatly to our growth. Looking back over the past year, we all reflect these memories in our minds.

One of the main functions of the year is our Snowball Hop, the annual semi-formal Christmas dance. This is sponsored for the entire student body by the Student Council. The date this past year was December 10, at which time we all danced in the cafeteria to the enchanting music of the Silhouettes. The cafeteria and refreshment area were beautifully decorated in tide with the theme "Magic Moments," which all produced a wonderful evening.

Don Stine, Mr. Goeglein, and Bill Foust are shown busily adding the finishing touches to the Snowball Hop.

Sukura, Japanese for cherry blossom, was the theme for the Junior-Senior Prom at which Jimmy Stier's Orchestra furnished the music. The gymnasium was transformed into a Japanese garden with cherry blossom trees and Japanese lanterns to carry out the oriental theme. The Juniors and Seniors will remember the Prom as the outstanding event of the school year.

Junior Attendants, Beckie Bearman and Denny Renier.

Junior Attendants, Lana Deitschel and Bob Fox.

The Prom is soon to begin as guests arrive.

Learning Many New Things for the Future.

This English class watches attentively as Mrs. Colleen Grabner explains a sentence on the board to them.

English and Language —

Susan Kroemer, speech student, gives her 5-minute speech on "The Art of Persuasion."

Term papers, projects, reports, and final speeches are a vital part of the English and language field. Infinitives and participles to declensions and nouns are covered and studied by many students. With English and foreign language the basis of our curricular program, much is heard about these subjects.

Reading, Literature, Grammar 12, Composition, and Speech are among the subjects taught in our English department. The foreign languages offered are Latin, French, and German, which are all becoming more and more popular among the students.

Miss Munk's French students, Laurie Karel, Freya Funk, and Dennis Headlee admire the poster on Paris.

Basis of Curricular Program

Bonus, bona, bonum — Mrs. Rogers seems to be writing a declension on the board for the class to learn.

Working on Latin projects are Judy McDonald, Phillip Brubaker, and Steve Anderson.

Ruth Kestner, future secretary, is shown transcribing a letter from her shorthand.

SOCIAL STUDIES AND BUSINESS

With History and Government being required subjects, each student is made more appreciative of his nation and increases his knowledge of Federal, state, and local conditions. Psychology and Sociology, also social studies subjects, show one's individual and economic needs.

Business courses form a great margin of the elective courses and present the principles of business by means of Business Law, Business Arithmetic, and Bookkeeping. Typing and Shorthand "pave the way" for many in the business world and are used quite extensively as personal skills.

Mr. Frock makes use of the map to illustrate the United States during the Civil War.

Janice Chausse explains a point as Mr. Beugnot and class listen.

Prepare for the Future

Kenneth Koenig and Jerry Doty work at the adding machines, trying to balance their bookkeeping problems.

SCIENCE AND MATH

Each student throughout his high school life takes some form of science and mathematics. Science includes laboratory work, field trips, the study of matter and energy, and atomic and molecular construction. Biology, Zoology, Botany, Chemistry, and Physics are among the many sciences taught.

Mathematics includes algebraic formulas, fractions, radicals, symmetrical figures, and logarithms. General Mathematics, Algebra, Plane Geometry, and Trigonometry are a few of the numerous mathematics courses.

Robert Anderson displays his science masterpiece — Oscar the Robot.

Problems and Formulas

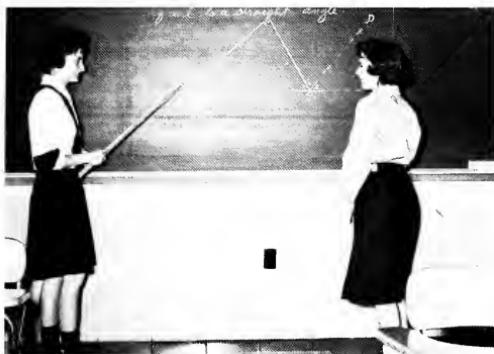

Don Stine is very much engrossed in solving his Physics problem with the help of the slide rule.

Various projects were displayed at the Science Fair, including an example of taxidermy.

Francisca Cuellar, Marsha Smenner, and Nancy Tigner form a reception line at their Christmas party. The girls made the refreshments and practiced the art of gracious serving.

Creativeness and Talent

Homemaking, Shop, and Art constitute a great part of the courses offered as they prove very valuable in forming creativeness and skill in the student.

These subjects require judgement in dealing with problems as well as the ability to comprehend modern methods and equipment.

The homemaking courses include sewing, foods, Child Care, and Home Nursing.

A few of the subjects offered by the Industrial Arts Department are Machine Shop, Cabinetmaking, and Mechanical Drawing.

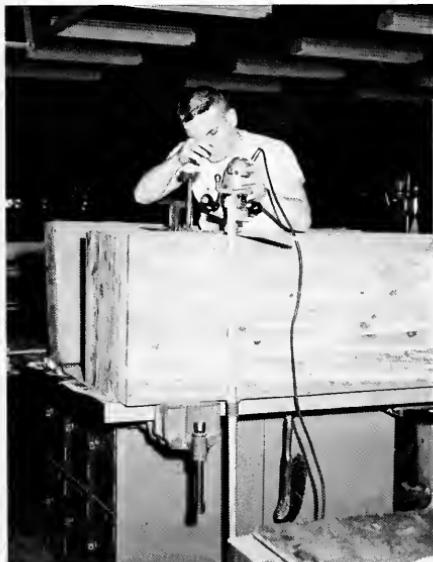

The model pictured is Sue Ann Brueck, modeling her black sheath, which she made.

Art students work on their various projects, such as pottery, silk screen printing, and jewelry.

Displayed by N.H.H.S. Students

Marion Kinnison puts the finishing touches on his cedar chest.

Jewelry making can be fun; this is the opinion that the art students form.

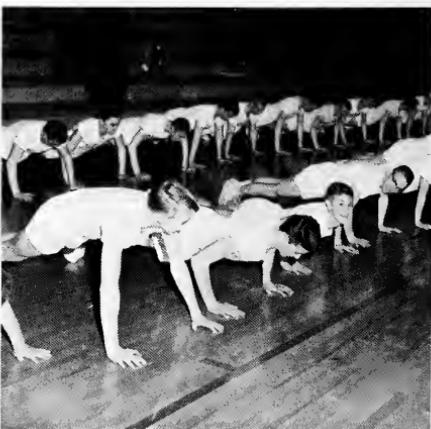

Each student is required to take two years of physical education with the objective of having organized instruction and participation in a wide range of activities. Physical education definitely succeeds in developing leadership, competitive spirit, cooperative spirit, sportsmanship, sociability, and safety. It helps to develop more skills, to encourage leadership, and to develop an attitude of fair play.

The trampoline provides fun and exercise for the physical education girls.

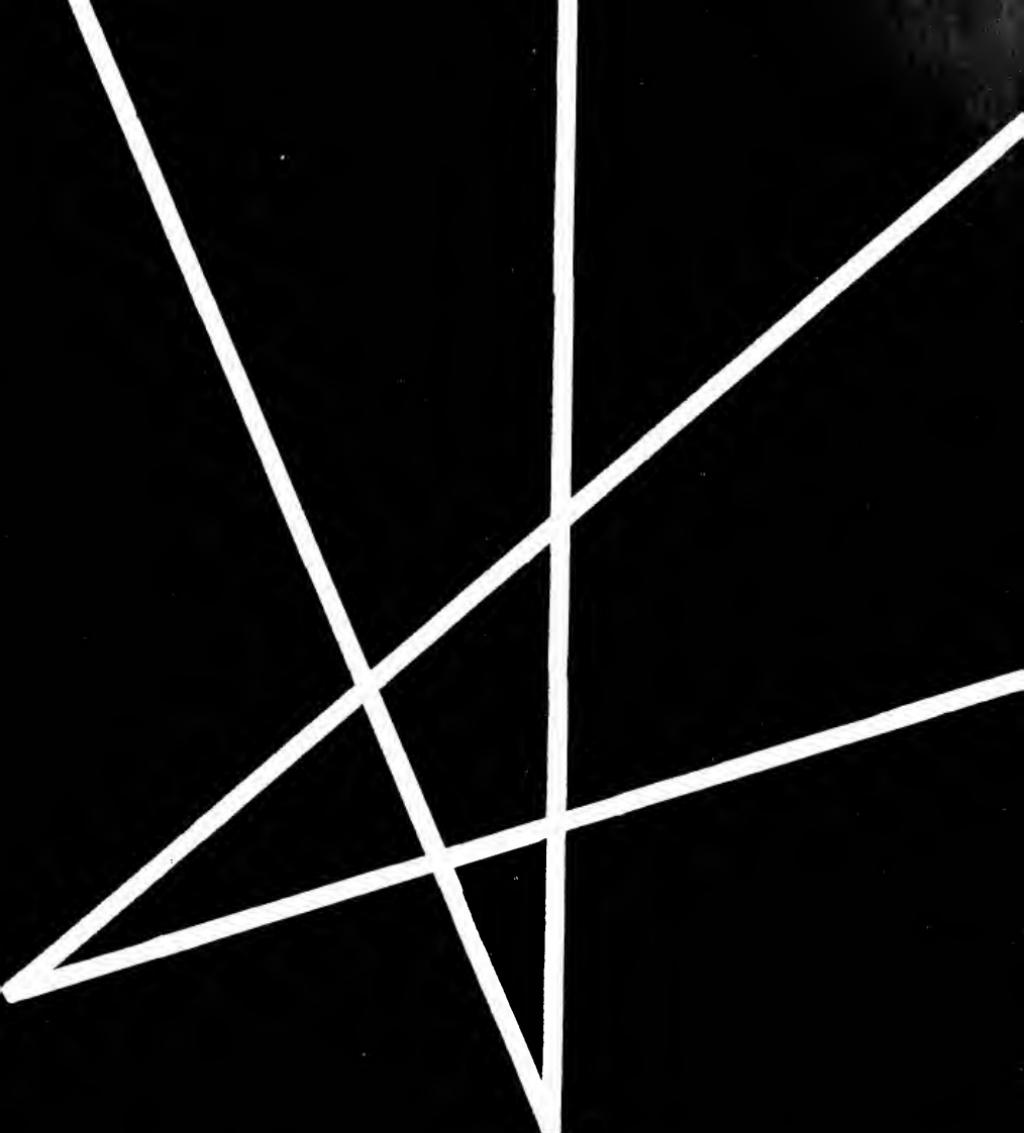

Physical Exercise Lightens Schedule

Sit-ups require strength while exercising and firming the muscles.

The push-ups seem to be filling these boys with pep and energy.

Seniors

Seniors

Now that graduation is almost here, it would seem that our hopes and dreams are really coming true. We will always remember the wonders of a freshman, the fun of a sophomore, the class pride of a junior, and the long-awaited dignity of a senior. As May approaches, and along with it Baccalaureate Services and Graduation, we grow a little sentimental about leaving our alma mater. We are looking forward to the future with great expectations and hope that we can fulfill our wishes and, at the same time, become useful and respectable citizens of this country and the world.

Realizing that we would soon be the leading students here at New Haven, we set out with greater determination and efficiency to make this year a success.

We became busier and busier with more homework, more extracurricular activities, and much planning for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Trying to accept the responsibilities and demands of a grown-up, we worked harder and harder at attaining leadership and co-operation in making our class the most progressive. We wanted a pace-setting year to be the basis for our goal of a successful Senior year.

Margaret Dickenson and Alice Bailey are just two of the juniors who worked in the canteen during the lunch hour to make money for the Junior Class.

This year we were no longer a class asking, "How should we do it?" but we were all old hands at the game and declared we knew all the angles. We felt experienced and ready to work as a united class.

To prove this we planned class activities, took an active interest in organizations, and assumed greater responsibilities in school activities. We are now aware that our high school years are half over and that next year we will return as upper classmen.

Music & Drama

Seventy-Three voices Blend Together

The New Haven Choir is a select group of 73 voices. It is the largest choir in the history of the New Haven high school.

The Choir has been very active throughout the year appearing before the student body, the Junior High School, PTA, Veterans' Hospital, WANE-TV at Christmastime, New Haven's Women's Club, The Volunteer Firemen Regiment Banquet of Allen County, Indiana State Teachers Convention, and the Fort Wayne Altrusa Club.

They also participated in the Solo and Ensemble and the State NISBOVA contests.

Outstanding events of the year are the annual winter and spring concerts. A two-day tour through the northern part of Indiana highlighted the choir's activities.

N. F. L. Gains Recognition

An extemer, Nancy Rogers, speaks on one of her topics.

The National Forensic league, founded in 1925, is an incorporated association of 900 secondary schools in 43 states. The purpose of NFL is to train leaders for America's future.

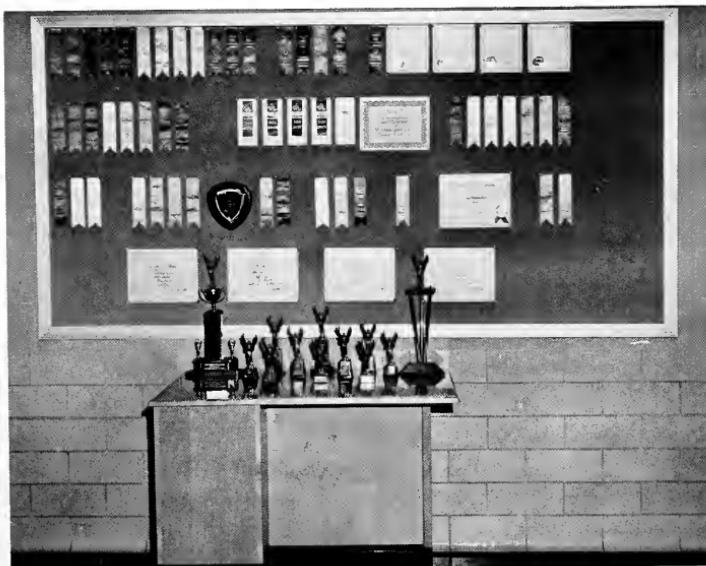

The New Haven Chapter was founded in 1954 and is presently second highest in membership in the state.

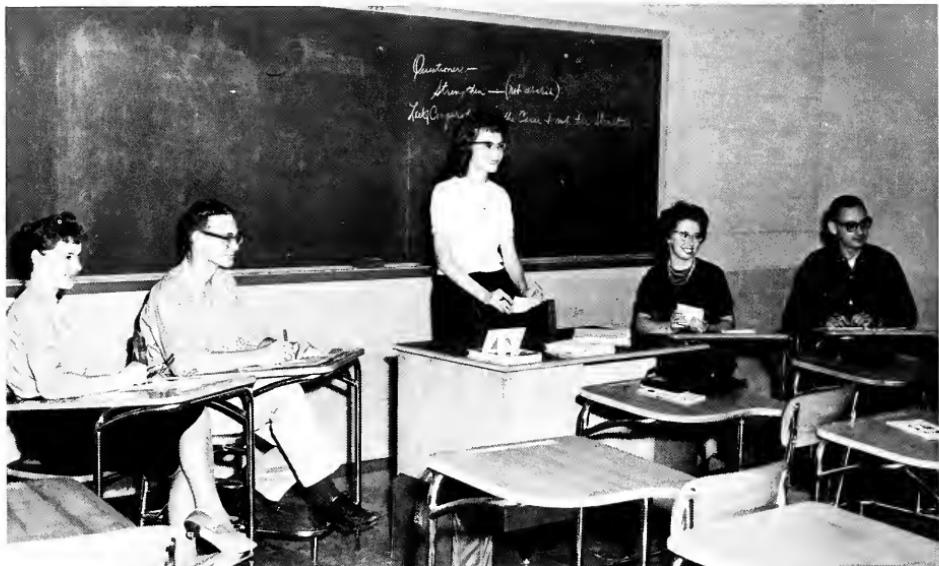

These students participate in many contests, which include the following branches of speaking: Extemporaneous, Oratory, Original Oratory, Dramatic, Humorous, Debate, Radio, Poetry Reading, and discussion.

Masque & Gavel Emphasizes Speech

Scene from "Swept Clean off Her Feet."

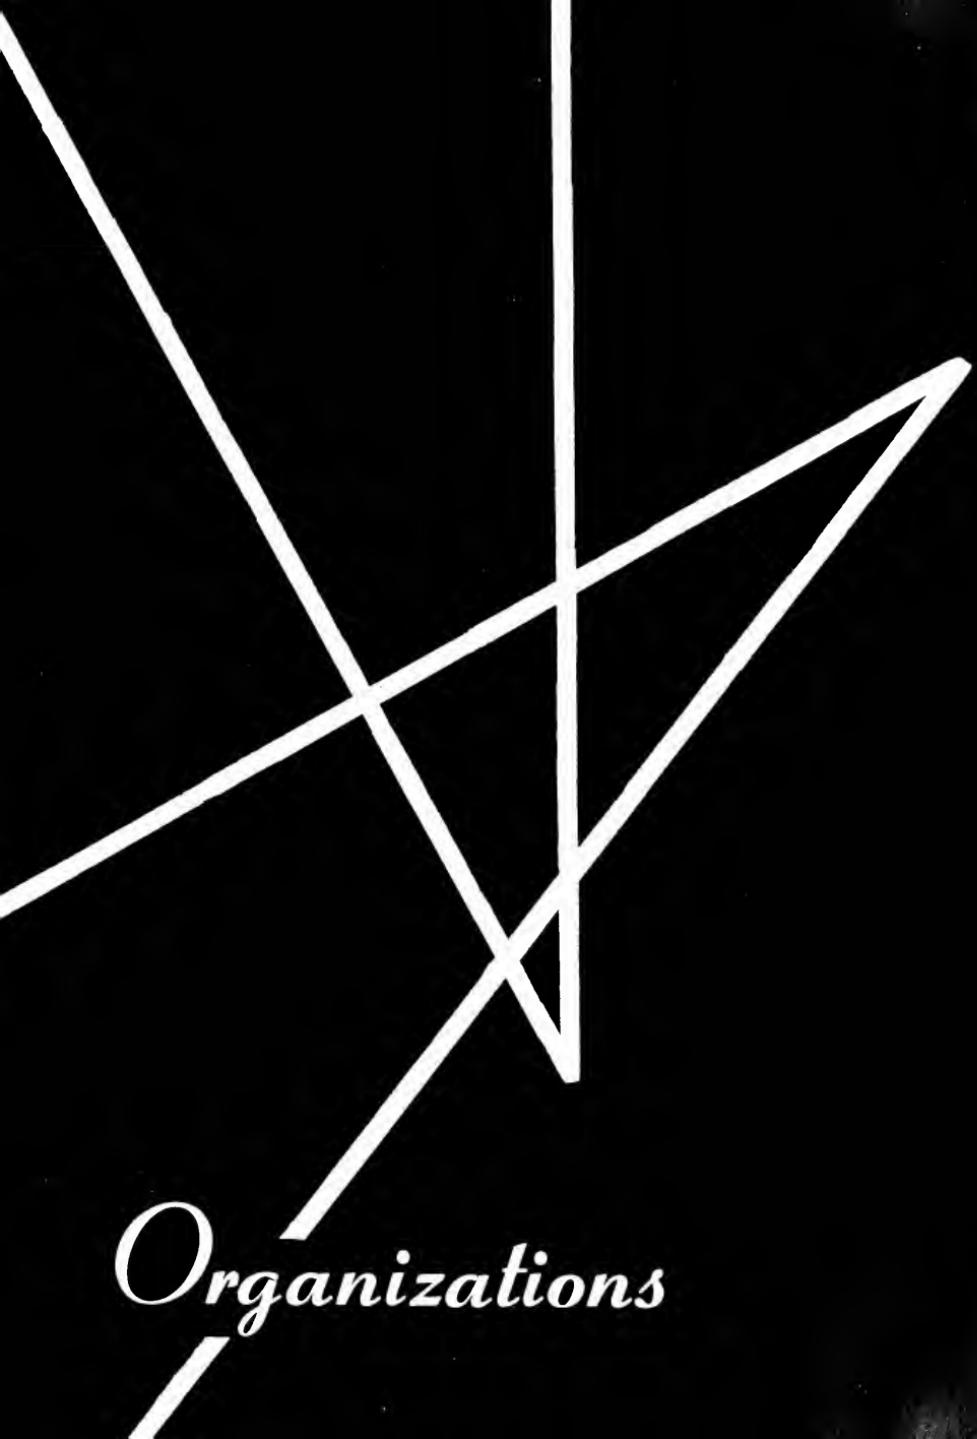

The purpose of Masque and Gavel is to improve speech and dramatic ability in the school and the community. A school assembly and an annual speech tournament each year is sponsored by this organization. In the spring its main activity is a three-act play. It has a Speakers' Bureau, which furnishes speakers and plays to the community. The one-act plays this year were "Swept Clean off Her Feet," "Let's Make-Up," "A Pound of Prevention," "Sister Sue," and "Pinch Me." The last of its activities each year is the spring banquet, which honors the graduating members and initiates the new members.

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Choosing as their theme of the year, "Learning Today, Leading Tomorrow," the New Haven Student Council set about to serve their school. They started by putting up fire signs, a small but necessary job, sponsored an after-game dance, two auditorium programs, carried out the details concerning the Halloween Party, and made a scrapbook for the student body. The biggest and best project of the year was the Snowball Hop with the theme "Magic Moments." The Student Council members have attempted to serve the students, faculty, and administration to the best of their ability in order that the students of today will be good citizens of our democracy in the years to come.

Any National Honor member will remember the day when he received his pin and this highest scholastic honor was bestowed upon him. Membership in the National Honor Society is given to those who have attained an outstanding scholastic achievement. They must also possess qualities of good citizenship, leadership, and willingness to serve the school.

"I can't believe it!" exclaims Barb Dickenson to her parents.

There was much joy and excitement to all who were received into National Honor. Bob Fox and his mother were very happy when he received his pin.

Mirage Captures Student Life in Pictures and Print

As Mr. Oberlin, advisor, demonstrates to Judy Thompson how to draw layouts, Judy Fuchs advises Susie Kroemer, Faculty Editor.

As September rolled around, ideas began to materialize, pictures were taken, typewriters pounded, and ad and subscription drives were begun. Never once did we realize how many pictures would have to be taken, how many articles would have to be written, the countless hours we would spend in planning and makeup, the many patrons and sponsors that we would need, and the many deadlines to be met.

We, the students working on the yearbook, have tried to capture our high school life in a nutshell, our Mirage. We hope we have made the year of 1961 a memorable one for you.

Love, unselfishness, charity, kindness, and helpfulness are ideals carried out by the Sunshine Society.

This year the organization made Christmas place mats for the Allen County homes, gave a $200 nurse's scholarship to a New Haven Senior girl, helped the local Cancer Society, and assumed the support of a Korean girl, Kim Ok Soon, in a Christian orphanage in Korea.

Means of financing the above projects are through the sale of sweat shirts, pennants, and pencils, and an annual spring dance.

Thus another year has been added to the history of New Haven High School. While there have been some anxious moments in preparing this book, it has been an inspirational experience. The 1961 Mirage Staff could not have completed it without the help of our advisors, the companies helping to publish the book, and our patrons.
